This comprehensive approach ensures that the needs of aging populations are met holistically, promoting dignity, autonomy, and well-being across communities.

The Importance of Palliative Care in the Context of Population Aging

Global Demographic Shifts and Their Implications

The world is witnessing unprecedented demographic changes characterized by a rising proportion of older adults. According to the World Health Organization, by 2050, people aged 60 years and older will represent over 22% of the global population. This demographic shift has profound implications for healthcare systems, social services, and economic stability. Older adults often face chronic illnesses, multimorbidity, and functional decline, necessitating specialized approaches such as palliative care.

As the need for end-of-life and chronic disease management increases, public health strategies must adapt to ensure that palliative care services are accessible, affordable, and culturally appropriate.
